Document Imaging
for STATIS

Today, one of the largest problems in growing your expedited freight company is the amount of paperwork generated from shipments. Bills of lading, invoices, delivery receipts and all other supporting documents accompany a shipment. But where does all this paper go? And how much time does it take to process?

Datatrak has introduced UNISearch for STATIS, a document imaging system designed to eliminate manual indexing, copying and sorting of documents. It allows you to take mounds of paperwork and scan them into an electronic file where you can search, retrieve, transmit and sort data. UNISearch streamlines the tracing and filing of a shipment, allowing you to increase your productivity and improve your customer service.

Sorting each customer bill is a tedious process that requires hours and hours of time by your employees. Not only can paperwork be improperly sorted or lost, but the time spent can delay the invoice distribution. And then there are all those documents that you have to run through copy machines. With the scanned image, a push of a button will quickly and efficiently generate the STATIS invoice for that customer, followed by all of the supporting paperwork. Now, with document imaging you can grow your company with the staff already in place.

IMPROVED CUSTOMER SERVICE

One of the most labor intensive areas of operating in the expedited freight business involves the tremendous demands placed on your customer service department. If they need a document, they first have to get up from their desk, go to the filing cabinet, find the document, make a copy, and then fax it. With UNISearch for STATIS, you simply retrieve some basic information from the customer while they are on the phone, find the order on STATIS and, right from your computer screen, fax a copy of the original document(s). Your staff as well as your customers will find UNISearch quick, easy and efficient.
