*Document Solutions that Drive Productivity
Today and Tomorrow.*

STREAMLINE your engineering document workflow process.

SHORTEN your product development cycles.

SPEED up your
time to market.

Today, deadline pressures are one of the biggest problems that engineers face in their jobs. Time to market is getting shorter, leading to increased demands on staff. According to a recent survey of design engineers, 81 percent are being asked to design products in less time than just a year ago – and nearly half have fewer people available to do the work.

On top of everything else, increasing competitive pressures are forcing organizations to focus on efficient, quality delivery from every resource within an organization.

Comsquared's UNI Search® document imaging and workflow system provides an important link between document scanning, indexing and archiving; and the job assembly, repeatable documents distribution and tracking.
